

Welcome to European Humanities University!

For those who understand the importance of academic freedom to a free and prosperous society, the European Humanities University (EHU) is a beacon of hope – the only Belarusian University that has succeeded in escaping the Belarusian government’s ideological control – and an engine for the future integration of Belarus into the family of democratic nations.

Based in Vilnius since its forced closure in Minsk in 2004, EHU provides students from Belarus and the region with an education in the humanities and social sciences in a free and democratic environment – an opportunity no longer available in Belarus today.

An education at EHU does more than immerse students in a range of subjects and disciplines. It promotes a trans-disciplinary approach as well as the critical thinking skills that empower them to develop innovative solutions, ideas, and enterprises.

At EHU, students study media and communication, cultural heritage and tourism, historic and cultural heritage, cultural studies, visual design and media, international law and European Union law, public policy, world politics and economics, existential psychology, ...and they combine theory and practice through interactive, hands-on learning opportunities. They hone their communication skills in a state-of-the-art media lab, observe elections as participants in the Election Observation: Theory and Practice program, practice legal skills with European and American experts and at the Philip C. Jessup International Moot Court Competition, organize and participate in exhibitions and cultural events, and develop and implement various projects of their own.

Participation in mobility programs like ERASMUS+ and the right to travel freely within the European Union’s visa-free Schengen Area helps students acquaint themselves with Europe and the benefits of European integration.

Find more detailed information below...

Visa Regulations

Students, who are EU citizens, do not need a visa to enter Lithuania. Only a valid ID card or passport is required. If you are staying in the country longer than for 3 months, you have to apply to the Migration Office <http://www.migracija.lt/index.php?-185266469> and local authority called Seniūnija for a certificate confirming the right of EU Member State citizen to permanently reside in the Republic of Lithuania. Non-European students must receive a National D-type visa before their arrival to Lithuania. You should apply for a visa at the Lithuanian embassy or consular office in your home country. Visa is valid for up to 12 months. You will need a mediation letter from European Humanities University confirming your admission to exchange studies. For this purpose please send us a request and a copy of your passport by e-mail: international@ehu.lt. If the period of stay in Lithuania is longer, an international student is required to receive a permanent residence permit.

Dormitories

You can apply for a place in a dorm room for a reasonable price (approximately 70 – 80 EUR). Due to high occupancy we cannot guarantee that you will get a place in a dormitory. Therefore, we recommend you to explore options of private accommodation in the local market as well. A request for a place in a dorm room has to be sent to students.accommodation@ehu.lt as soon as you receive the acceptance letter from EHU Academic Development Unit. Prior to your arrival you will be asked to sign the contract and pay the reservation deposit (usually two months' rent). The payments has to be done by means of a bank transfer. Cash is not accepted. Room facilities in the students' dorms: double or triple furnished room, a desk and shelves / mattress, pillow, blanket, bed linen / shared kitchen and bathroom / internet connection.

Private Accomodation

Another possibility for accommodation – search for an apartment in a private market. The best way to look for private housing is the online portals: www.aruodas.lt / www.alio.lt / www.domo.plius.lt / www.edomus.lt.

Just like with the dormitories, you will need to sign a contract with the flat lessor and pay a deposit which may vary from 1 to 3 month rent price. The deposit is used as a rent fee for the last months or returned to the tenant deducting damages if any. The conditions may differ from the lessor. The price of the flat depends on the district and the number of rooms in the flat. Rent fee may vary from 150 to 350 EUR. Utility costs (water, heating, electricity, internet) will add extra 50-100 EUR. Be aware that during cold season (appr. from mid-October till mid-April) heating price is much higher and utility costs will considerably grow.

City Hostels

If you haven't made any choice from available dormitories or private apartments prior to your arrival, you may choose to stay at a youth hostel for the first few days. Please look for options here: <http://www.hostelworld.com>

Insurance

Students with EU nationality must obtain the European Health Insurance Card – EHIC and have it during their stay in Lithuania.

If you are a non-European student, you may also have to prove that you have a private health insurance when applying for your Lithuanian visa. You should check whether your private health insurance offers sufficient coverage in Lithuania. If this is not the case, you should obtain an extra insurance at a local insurance company immediately after arriving in Lithuania. You can use the services of Lithuanian insurance company “Ergo” (www.ergo.lt) which offers special conditions for the EHU.

Medical Care

You can choose the private medical clinic “Fama Bona” which has an agreement with EHU for health services what makes the process easier and much more convenient than at public medical care institutions: <http://famabona.lt/en>

However, your health insurance provides you a possibility to address to any other private or public clinic or hospital of your own choice. The list of medical care institutions: <http://www.info.lt/rubrika/Medicinos-%C4%AFstaigos-vie%C5%A1osios/100209581/Vilnius>
National emergency phone number – 112.

Living Expenses

Students typically spend 150-180 EUR per month on food. The price of a meal at a cafe in the city center ranges from 4 to 15 EUR. The price of a monthly ticket for public transportation is 5.79 EUR (for both bus and trolleybus). Monthly rent for a bed in a dormitory room is 50-70 EUR. Off-campus rooms typically rent for 150-350 EUR.

Study Areas:

Bachelor Degree Studies

- Visual Design and Media
- Cultural Heritage and Tourism
- World Politics and Economy
- Media and Communication

Visual Design and Media

Rapid development of information technology and constant growth in the amount of information accessible via print and electronic media creates the demand for professionals able to organize this information and make it accessible, easy to understand, and catchy for a consumer. The undergraduate program in Visual Design and Media focuses on educating designers to work in the media industry. Designing for print media differs from creating design for the electronic media. Hence, our students are offered the opportunity to choose a major after acquiring core skills and competencies in design.

The program is subdivided into two modules:

- Graphic Design
- Media Design

Cultural Heritage and Tourism

The Cultural Heritage and Tourism program continues the educational tradition established at EHU in Minsk as part of the joint French-Belarusian project Tourism and Heritage, which allowed the creation of an innovative educational program for professionals in the field. The new location of the University in Vilnius provides possibilities for developing international cooperation and implementing projects in tourism that explore the uniqueness of the cultural heritage of Belarus, analyzing it in the regional and European context. The program educates students about exploiting cultural heritage and the 'technology' of the tourism industry.

It aims to educate professionals in recreation and tourism, providing up-to-date knowledge and skills in organizational, managerial, project, and research activities in the sphere of tourism. Our graduates are able to understand and examine the phenomenon of cultural heritage on the interdisciplinary plane in the broad context of social sciences and humanities; are capable of analyzing the touristic potential of cultural heritage objects and territories; and can interpret and promote such heritage as a tool for increasing tourism.

World Politics and Economics

The World Politics and Economics Study Program is a program of interdisciplinary research combining political science and economics. EHU developed and implemented this program in cooperation with Kaunas-based Vytautas Magnus University (VDU). World Politics and Economics enables students to analyse global political and economic processes without concentrating on a specific region. The World Politics and Economics program will provide participants with professional analysis skills that will enable them to competently analyse, compare, and evaluate social, economic, and explain political processes; provide theoretical descriptions and explanations of the peculiarities of the manifestation of individual political processes; evaluate the economic situations of individual countries; demonstrate a knowledge of economic theory and the objectives and activities of the European Union and international organisations; undertake independent research; and prepare and implement practical and applied projects. Internships for students are available at various international and nongovernmental organizations, governmental entities, diplomatic and consular institutions, the media, and others.

Media and Communi- cation

Media and Communication Program is among the most popular undergraduate programs at our university. The unique curriculum of the program focuses on educating specialists in one of the most important spheres of knowledge in the contemporary world – in creating a variety of audiovisual products.

In the contemporary media, not narrow specialists (with a limited range of knowledge and skills based on the existing media production technologies) enjoy higher demand, but rather polyfunctional and adaptive individuals able to think creatively, understand the logics of the social development and the role of the media in the contemporary society, highly motivated to always upgrade their qualification and learn new things, and also well-versed in humanities (including the ability to communicate in foreign languages in their professional sphere).

- Specialization in New Media
The New Media specialization focuses on educating professional journalists to work in print and electronic mass media (radio, television, Internet media), specialists in the sphere of media planning, media management, advertising and PR.

- Specialization in Visual Culture and Creative Industries

The primary focus of this specialization is on educating theorists, critics and producers in the sphere of contemporary audiovisual production (documentaries and popular science films, photography).

Integrated study program (5 year program that awards master degree)

International Law and European Union Law

The integrated program in International Law and European Union Law prepares professionals to work as legal experts, as well as conduct research and academic activities. The program offers a full cycle of higher education in law: the graduates receive an LLM degree. The program aims to educate creative and active lawyers able to solve organizational and management issues, as well as work as legal advisers and lawmakers at both national and international levels. The program focuses on an area that is under-developed in Belarus, but at the same time crucial to foster international and European economic, political, and cultural processes and ties within Belarus and the region. The program draws from EHU's potential in the field of humanities in legal education, and allows the flexibility to react to constantly changing labor market needs, structural changes in society, and provides positive international experience, shaping the academic and professional environment in Belarus and the region in accordance with European cultural and legal principles.

Master Degree Studies

- Historic and Cultural Heritage
- Cultural Studies
- Existential Psychology
- Public Policy

Historic and Cultural Heritage

The Historic and Cultural Heritage graduate program aims to prepare qualified specialists in heritage studies with broad inter-disciplinary competence in the fields of history, tourism, ethnology, and cultural anthropology. Graduates of the program are well-oriented in social processes, are familiar with the specifics of the cultural heritage of their region, are able to competently analyze the specific theoretical and practical issues, and to independently conduct research. Graduates work as researchers, teachers, tourism managers, analysts, experts, and consultants for the protection of cultural heritage and the promotion of harmonious ethnic relations.

Cultural Studies

The program aims at providing Belarusians and other countries' nationals the opportunity of state-of-the-art graduate-level university education in sociology of culture, with advanced training in gender theory, critical urban studies, and visual and cultural studies, that conforms to the European standards in higher education in this field of studies.

The program focuses on:

- educating researchers capable of facilitating the modernization of the Belarusian (and broader – the post-Soviet) academia and its integration into the European and global intellectual environment in the field of sociology of culture and gender theory; life in the regional dynamics, the impact of the border regimes on the urban development, the impact of migration on the urban environment and regulating this impact), and “Localized Creative Industries” (covering the urban environment valorization regimes, community studies, sociology of cultural sector, spatial interventions and event capitalism.)

• Specialization in Gender Studies

Existential Psychology

EHU’s Existential Psychology Program offers a unique opportunity to acquire the in-depth knowledge and practical skills necessary for work as an existential psychologist. The approach is based on the principle of interdisciplinarity, including the necessary theoretical resources of psychology and philosophy, in accordance with the European tradition of education of existential psychologists and psychotherapists. The program is characterized by a well-balanced combination of theoretical, practical, and research components in the educational process.

The program involves close academic cooperation between Belarusian philosophers and psychologists and Lithuanian colleagues united around the Institute of Humanistic and Existential Psychology (Birštonas) and the Center of Existential Therapy (Vilnius). Another important partner in the region is the East European Association for Existential Therapy (also registered in Lithuania).

Involvement of well-known Western specialists opens up broad perspectives for international cooperation with a wide range of academic institutions in Germany, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, Austria, and the United States.

Public Policy

EHU's Master of Arts in Public Policy Program focuses on the needs of modern society and the future of European integration. Students learn classical and contemporary theories of state and civil society, the basic rules and methods of political analysis, procedures and practices of effective policy-making, how to participate in public organizations, how to be active citizens in shaping public policy, and about the civil service systems of different countries. The program prepares students for work in international organizations and government agencies, public institutions, foundations, educational institutions, and nongovernmental organizations.

Doctoral Studies

- Philosophy

Philosophy

In 2011, EHU launched a doctoral program in philosophy in partnership with Vytautas Magnus University (Kaunas) and the Lithuanian Culture Research Institute (Vilnius).

EHU's Doctorate in Philosophy combines the European historical philosophical tradition with a flexible interdisciplinary focus. This allows for in-depth analysis of the most problematic and burning issues that concern today's individual as well as society at large.

EHU's doctoral program provides an opportunity to significantly enhance one's qualifications, effectively network with the European academic community, defend one's doctoral dissertation, and earn a doctoral degree (PhD in Philosophy) that is recognized throughout the European Union. A master's degree (or a more advanced degree) is a prerequisite for prospective students who wish to enroll in the doctoral program.

The duration of doctoral studies is four years. Within this time frame, a doctoral student studies for and takes exams in the subjects of his choice, publishes articles covering topics related to her or his thesis, and participates in conferences and other academic activities. A PhD is awarded after successful defense of one's dissertation.

The main focus of doctoral theses lies within two areas:

- The impact of new technologies on social practices and the experience of identity
- Social and ethical transformations in the era of globalization
